January 20, (Thursday) (8:30 A.M. to 3:00 P.M.) – BJ's Catering and Event Center, 990 N. Center Ave Gaylord, Mi

Information That Will Be Offered Includes The Following:

Topics Covered Will Include Task Training, Sound Incident Investigation Practices and Consistent Expectations to Improve Safety Performance, Powered Haulage Safety, Electrical, Safety Culture

- Bob Mann, Miron Construction - A brief discussion of the reasons and methods to conduct thorough incident investigations to improve safety performance through proper root and contributory cause analysis.
- Garland Moffet, University of Texas - "I should have seen it coming.. But I didn't now I can't !" This speaks from life experiences and habits that unfortunately caused the loss of an eye. It focuses on the importance of being safe and literally changes the culture within industry.

- Ray Wright, Great Lakes Aggregate - With Powered Haulage being where a majority of fatalities are occurring this presentation will cover some of the things MSHA is doing to prevent these from happening.
- Larry Gray, Cliffs- There are still too many electrical accidents happening this presentation will discuss safe procedures when working with electricity.

Jason Wyglendowski, Manthei Co.- This presentation will discuss how todays culture plays a big role in how safety is performed in the industry.

The agenda's will be the same at both locations. We are still working on getting our MSHA representatives to attend both of these meetings, but as of right now they are not being allowed to travel. We will keep you updated on this as we get closer to the dates of the workshops.
